Is Trapped for 45 Minutes Until Power Is Cut Off; Ladder Hits Wires

MORRISVILLE, Nov. 22 — A broken power line at the freeway approach to the new Morrisville-Trenton toll bridge sent 33,000 volts of current through a metal truck body yesterday, as an electrical worker sat motionless inside the cab.

The worker, Worth H. Thompson, 30, of East Dawn Trailer Camp, Langhorne, saved himself from electrocution by not touching any metal in the truck. He was trapped there 45 minutes until the power was turned off.

Installing Lamps

Thompson, employed by the W. V. Pangborne Co., Inc., was installing mercury vapor lamps at the bridge approach with Walter Patterson, 40, 125 Monroe st., Bristol. Patterson who was walking behind the truck as Thompson drove, said he saw a raised ladder on top of the vehicle strike two high voltage wires.

The ladder was made of wood, with metal binding and supporting rods. It broke one wire, Patterson said, and fell on another, and charged the truck body with electricity. The rims of the wheels shot off sparks and scorched the tires.

Burned Hole in Concrete
A wire fell to the street, threw sparks and burned a hole in some fresh concrete.

Patterson shouted to Thompson, and froze in his tracks. An emergency crew from the Philadelphia Electric Co. shut off the current at 11:30 a. m. and released the driver from the truck. Power was cut off from nearby home and industrial circuits for an hour, as repairs were made.

Christmas Mail is Expected To Set a Record This Year

Postmaster Warns Residents To Get Bundles Off In Good Time

Postmaster Lawrence M. Mulligan believes a word to the wise will help make Christmas as merry as it should be.

"The 1952 Christmas season," he said today, "is officially underway. Here at the Post Office, we have an enormous job to do. Naturally, our main concern is the delivery of all gifts and Christmas cards by December 25.

"There are about 154 million people in this country today. More than ever before. More people, more Christmas mail. This means, of course, that a helping hand from the public really is necessary," continued Mulligan.

Heavy Rush Expected
"So it's a pleasure for me to explain what can be done. As for the Post Office, we're getting all set to do a good job!"

Postmaster Mulligan has briefed local postal employees on what to expect. He predicts this year's Christmas mail will set a new all-time record, exceeding by far the number of pieces of mail cancelled here in 1951.

"Similar records are anticipated all over the U. S. Consequently, during the Christmas period the Post Office will make as many deliveries as are necessary up to Christmas Day. This includes rescheduling of mail."

Morrisville Man Says City Underassessed By a Million Dollars

Association to Distribute Information on Subject To Home Owners

MORRISVILLE, Nov. 22—John C. Whalen, president of the Morrisville Taxpayers' Association, charged that the borough is under-assessed by one-million dollars or more.

He said this conclusion is the result of examining the 1953 borough assessments, recently announced to total $4,242,399.

To Make Trip

The Taxpayers' Association is appointing a committee to go to Doylestown and copy the assessments for each property in Morrisville, Whalen said, and will publish and distribute the lists to each home owner.

Whalen accused the borough tax assessors of failing to properly increase assessments, as they were directed to by county officials last Spring. He said they were instructed to raise assessments by 20 to 30 per cent of the property values, but that the new figures show an increase of only 17 per cent. The 1953 assessments total $4,242,399, he said, as compared with the 1952 figures of $3,615,080.

Says Hikes Unjustified
"What has happened?" Whalen asked. He said the assessments have been greatly raised in the third and fourth wards, with no large amount of building to justify those sections carrying the burden. The Taxpayers' Association will meet here Tuesday at 8 p. m. and discuss the assessments.

HULMEVILLE, Nov. 22 — Neshamony Lodge, No. 422, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, which has met here since its formation 103 years ago, is soon to pass out of the picture as a separate lodge. Decision was made last evening for Neshamony Lodge to merge with Mystic Lodge of Holmesburg, Philadelphia.

The merger will, in reality, be a transfer of the 41 memberships from the local lodge. It is expected, acting noble grand John Mortimer, Sr., Bensalem twp., states, that meetings will continue to be held locally for a few weeks. Neshamony Lodge members will then attend sessions in Holmesburg, there being no change in the officers group of Mystic Lodge.

For More Protection

Meetings of Neshamony Lodge have been held continuously in 1. O. O. F. hall, the third floor of the Henry building at Main and Hulme sts., for 78 years.

WHAT KIND OF CHANGE?

What General Eisenhower and the Republican Party will do with great victory at the polls is obvious enough in broad outline. Their campaign slogan was that "It's time for a change" and the people agreed, emphatically. So a change will be delivered as promised. It is a matter of pressing moment for Ike and the leaders of his party to decide what kind of a change they are obligated to provide.

For inevitably there will be differences of opinion, within the party, on how to interpret the mandate. Also, the far-sighted will want to make good use of the opportunity now afforded the party—because there will be another congressional election in 2 years.

To stay in power, President Eisenhower and the party cannot afford to dissipate the political capital presently at their disposal.

The first step must be to review the victory in order to understand it. It will have to be closely analyzed, but already it is apparent it must be considered an important part a personal triumph for Eisenhower. That is evident in the popular vote, which broke all records, and in his amazing majority there and in the electoral college. It is evident in inroads he made in the Solid South.

Actually, Ike will have more strength in the Congress than the Republican - Democratic division indicates. Since 1948 the power on Capitol Hill has been lodged in a coalition of conservative southern Democrats and northern Republicans. That may continue to be the case, but the Eisenhower strength in the South will give him an influence on lawmakers from that section that President Truman never had.

UNQUENCHABLE SPIRIT

Dr. Thomas R. A. Davis of New Zealand, his wife and four children have arrived at Boston from New Zealand after a 117-day voyage across 10,000 miles of ocean wastes and through five fierce gales in a 48-ft. ketch.

Dr. Davis, chief medical officer of the Cook Islands, will attend Harvard School of Public Health. He came the hard way because he wanted to gather evidence to support a theory that the Polynesians migrated to Peru and gave rise to the Inca civilization.

This is the antithesis of the theory held by the crew of the Kon-Tiki, who drifted westward on a balsa raft in hope of proving that Peruvians settled Polynesia. Their fascinating voyage produced a best-selling book.

One gathers that Dr. Davis is satisfied with his evidence. He thinks he knows the "real reason for the pronounced similarities between Incan and Polynesian cultures." But Dr. Davis is doing no loose talking to the press. He too, plans a book.

The Kon-Tiki crew and the Davis family prove that the spirit that drove the great ocean explorers of the Middle Ages still burns among men.

WHAT KIND OF CHANGE?

What General Eisenhower and the Republican Party will do with great victory at the polls is obvious enough in broad outline. Their campaign slogan was that "It's time for a change" and the people agreed, emphatically. So a change will be delivered as promised. It is a matter of pressing moment for Ike and the leaders of his party to decide what kind of a change they are obligated to provide.

For inevitably there will be differences of opinion, within the party, on how to interpret the mandate. Also, the far-sighted will want to make good use of the opportunity now afforded the party—because there will be another congressional election in 2 years.

To stay in power, President Eisenhower and the party cannot afford to dissipate the political capital presently at their disposal.

The first step must be to review the victory in order to understand it. It will have to be closely analyzed, but already it is apparent it must be considered an important part a personal triumph for Eisenhower. That is evident in the popular vote, which broke all records, and in his amazing majority there and in the electoral college. It is evident in inroads he made in the Solid South.

Actually, Ike will have more strength in the Congress than the Republican - Democratic division indicates. Since 1948 the power on Capitol Hill has been lodged in a coalition of conservative southern Democrats and northern Republicans. That may continue to be the case, but the Eisenhower strength in the South will give him an influence on lawmakers from that section that President Truman never had.

UNQUENCHABLE SPIRIT

Dr. Thomas R. A. Davis of New Zealand, his wife and four children have arrived at Boston from New Zealand after a 117-day voyage across 10,000 miles of ocean wastes and through five fierce gales in a 48-ft. ketch.

Dr. Davis, chief medical officer of the Cook Islands, will attend Harvard School of Public Health. He came the hard way because he wanted to gather evidence to support a theory that the Polynesians migrated to Peru and gave rise to the Inca civilization.

This is the antithesis of the theory held by the crew of the Kon-Tiki, who drifted westward on a balsa raft in hope of proving that Peruvians settled Polynesia. Their fascinating voyage produced a best-selling book.

One gathers that Dr. Davis is satisfied with his evidence. He thinks he knows the "real reason" for the pronounced similarities between Incan and Polynesian cultures. But Dr. Davis is doing no loose talking to the press. He too, plans a book.

The Kon-Tiki crew and the Davis family prove that the spirit that drove the great ocean explorers of the Middle Ages still burns among men.

dential areas which now receive one delivery daily.

Should Bundle Mail

"All business firms are requested to bundle their mail and to post their regular correspondence between 3:30 and 4:00 P. M. each day, during the critical month of December. Dispatch can then be effected via trains leaving here at 5:10, 5:18 and 6:29 P. M.

"Time of mailing is especially important, and the earlier the better, he warned. "Yuletide mail for overseas has been going out in a steady flow for several weeks now. Moreover, there's still time for delivery in most foreign countries. But after Dec. 1, all gifts going abroad should be sent by air parcel post and all Christmas cards by air mail.

"Here's how to avoid disappointing your friends and loved ones. I think it makes good sense," continued Postmaster Mulligan. "Visit the Post Office this week, while the crowds are still small. Buy all those extra stamps you'll be needing, and ask any questions you may have about registered mail or insured packages.

"Stock up on supplies of sturdy cardboard, strong cord, wrapping paper, and parcel post labels. Then mail your gift packages two or three at a time. If you wait to mail them all at once, congestion increases.

"Check and revise your Christmas card list carefully. Select your Christmas card now, and address each envelope plainly and completely. Give full name, house number, city, zone, and state. Show your return address also in the upper left hand corner of the envelope.

"So follow these helpful instructions, whether your gifts and greetings are going to far away places or to the neighbors next door."

POWER CUT OFF

Electric service to about 50 homes in the Cornwells area was cut off last night a little after midnight when high winds caused a transmission wire to break throwing the wire up against a 33,000-volt power line.

A spokesman for the Philadelphia Electric Company reported that about six telephone calls were received as a result of the shut off of electric current. The line was repaired at 2 a. m. this morning by maintenance men of the company reported the spokesman.

★ ONE-ROOM LIVING ★

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

If you have your own home, you probably can't imagine what it would be like to live in one room. The thought may even sound improbable.

"One room!" you gasp. "It can't be done!"

But it can, and attractively, too, thanks to the ingenuity of American designers and manufacturers. They've gone all-out in producing furniture to meet the needs of cramped quarters and, whether you have one room or eight, these are designs that you'll be interested in seeing.

Since space is something we never seem to have enough of, even home-owners will like these furniture pieces. They're just the thing, for example, to turn a room into guest quarters by night, a pleasant sitting room by day. And, needless to say, they more than fill the bill for apartment dwellers whose home is a single room and bath.

On today's page, you'll see a fair sampling of these designs. They're all beds that have split-personalities. By day, they turn into a variety of seating units.

Our favorite, from a space-saving point of view is a neat little ottoman. On casters, it can be easily moved to a ring-side TV seat, or you can roll it from foyer, den or baby's room to wherever needed. It's just 36 inches square until it opens out to be used as a sofa or an extra bed.

A three-way chaise is another intriguing new design, one that serves a trio of uses. It makes a comfortable guest bed, can be used as a chaise lounge for porch, terrace or guest room, and it's an easy-to-handle invalid chair. This adaptable piece has still another big selling point. It folds compactly—18 inches wide, 41 inches high—so that it can be stored in a closet when not in use.

Sectional sofas, love seats and chaises that turn into beds

THOUGH ONLY 36 inches square, this ottoman is versatile. It can double as a sofa, or as an extra bed, shown at right. Castors make it easy to move. Try it upholstered in tweed, antiqued rayon satin, or boucle, in a wide choice of colors.

Even the smallest room is big enough for living and sleeping when it has a bed that folds compactly into a useful ottoman.

are wonderful items, too. One such model—a sectional sofa—is pictured here. In this instance, the two units are separated by an end table, but they might also be used side by side effectively. The variety of arrangements possible with these pieces is end less.

The pieces are placed in a room that would necessitate moving one of them when it was time to make beds up.

Last but not least, there's the perennially popular studio couch. Cover it with a tailored spread, make large pillows to match, use a few scatter pillows for accent and, by day, it's a seating unit as well as a sleeping place.

1. Check batteries.
 2. Check windshield wiper blades and defrosters.
 3. Be sure brakes are equalized.
 4. Have all lights and mufflers checked.
 5. Have tire chains ready for use.

Asked whether he considered tire chains necessary if a car had "winterized" tires, the chief referred to a report of the National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards. This report said recent tests showed that tire chains cut braking distances on snow and ice in half and increase ability to get started or climb hills under slippery conditions by four to seven times.

Winterized tires were found to stop a car a little shorter than conventional tires but tire chains did far better than any tread. At 20 miles per hour on hard packed snow, the report said stopping distances averaged as follows: conventional synthetic rubber tires, about 70 feet; winterized tires, 60 feet; tire chains, 40 feet. On ice at the same speed conventional tires now slide 227 feet; mud-snow tires 190 feet; and tire chains about 80 feet.

The report on special tires concluded: "Their overall improvement is not great enough to warrant less care or precaution when driving on slippery surfaces. Such tires do not come close to performance of reinforced type tire chains. While some of these tires can be considered as a palliative, they are certainly not 'the answer' for severe snow and ice conditions."

Don't Neglect Nail Homework

There's more to nail care than a manicure. If nails split and crack easily, friction in a little cuticle cream.

By HELEN FOLLETT
FINGERNAILS in perfect form? A professional manicure once a week will keep them that way, but all women haven't the time to spare for a session at the beauty shop. This means that a little homework is in order. Putting on polish isn't all that is required.

Thin nails that bend easily are not normal, neither are those that split and crack. Both conditions may be due to a diet deficiency, though nobody is precisely sure about that. It has been determined, though, that daily friction with a cuticle cream will prove helpful. It isn't enough to press the emollient into the surrounding flesh; it should be rubbed into the nail fabric itself.

Sluggish Circulation
The coloring of the nail is created by the blood streams in the underlying flesh; the nail itself is transparent, of course. If the circulation is sluggish, talons will be pale. Take a peek at your nails. If they are not pink, then do some deep breathing exercises, put on your seven-league boots and get out and hoof it.

Rough work around the house, contact with harsh cleaning mediums, will not only take the gloss from the nails, but will cause them to thicken. If you are the engineer of the domestic machinery, protect your hands with rubber gloves when dipping them in dirty water. Wear cotton gloves when polishing silver or furniture. Protection is the thing. Once nails begin to look grubby, it is difficult to get them back to normal condition.

White spots and some other forms of nail blemishes are caused by injuries to the matrix, that portion of the nail that is under the flesh at the base where new cells are forming and constantly emerging. When using your orangewood stick, avoid pressure in that area.

Revival Efforts Fail
Dr. Proctor rushed to his home and removed the body from the tub and applied artificial respiration while Mrs. Campbell summoned four other physicians. More than a tank of oxygen was used in an effort to restore life.

Mrs. Proctor had telephoned her daughter, Mrs. Charles Gedney, who resides but a short distance away at about 9:40, it is stated. At that time Mrs. Gedney says that her mother exhibited no unusual conditions. She had suffered from depression, and had been depressed over a period of time and had been under the care of a specialist. The Proctors have resided here for the past 11 years. Miss Scheuer pointed out that

The report on special tires concluded: "Their overall improvement is not great enough to warrant less care or precaution when driving on slippery surfaces. Such tires do not come close to performance of reinforced type tire chains. While some of these tires can be considered as a palliative, they are certainly not 'the answer' for severe snow and ice conditions."

Don't Neglect Nail Homework

There's more to nail care than a manicure. If nails split and crack easily, friction in a little cuticle cream.

By HELEN FOLLETT

FINGERNAILS in perfect form? A professional manicure once a week will keep them that way, but all women haven't the time to spare for a session at the beauty shop. This means that a little homework is in order. Putting on polish isn't all that is required.

Thin nails that bend easily are not normal, neither are those that split and crack. Both conditions may be due to a diet deficiency, though nobody is precisely sure about that. It has been determined, though, that daily friction with a cuticle cream will prove helpful. It isn't enough to press the emollient into the surrounding flesh; it should be rubbed into the nail fabric itself.

Sluggish Circulation

The coloring of the nail is created by the blood streams in the underlying flesh; the nail itself is transparent, of course. If the circulation is sluggish, talons will be pale. Take a peek at your nails. If they are not pink, then do some deep breathing exercises, put on your seven-league boots and get out and hoof it.

Rough work around the house, contact with harsh cleaning mediums, will not only take the gloss from the nails, but will cause them to thicken. If you are the engineer of the domestic machinery, protect your hands with rubber gloves when dipping them in dirty water. Wear cotton gloves when polishing silver or furniture. Protection is the thing. Once nails begin to look grubby, it is difficult to get them back to normal condition.

White spots and some other forms of nail blemishes are caused by injuries to the matrix, that portion of the nail that is under the flesh at the base where new cells are forming and constantly emerging. When using your orangewood stick, avoid pressure in that area.

Wife of Physician Found

employer in the bath tub submerged and clad in only a slip.

Mrs. Campbell at once communicated with the office of Dr. Proctor 332 West State St., Trenton, N. J., and informed his secretary, Miss Ruth Ireland, of her discovery.

Revival Efforts Fail

Dr. Proctor rushed to his home and removed the body from the tub and applied artificial respiration while Mrs. Campbell summoned four other physicians. More than a tank of oxygen was used in an effort to restore life.

Mrs. Proctor had telephoned her daughter, Mrs. Charles Gedney, who resides but a short distance away at about 9:40, it is stated. At that time Mrs. Gedney says that her mother exhibited no unusual conditions. She had suffered from dispondency, and had been depressed over a period of time and had been under the care of a specialist. The Proctors have resided here for the past 11 years. A son, William Proctor, resides at Swarthmore. He is a chemical engineer.

The tragedy was investigated by both Dr. Ferris and his deputy, Dr. Goldfarb, Police Chief Robert Watson, Lower Makefield; and State Trooper, John M. McDonough. The body was moved to a funeral home.

Dr. Proctor left his home at about 7:50 for his Trenton office. He told the authorities that his wife had gotten up and prepared his breakfast as usual and had acted normally.

Our nurses worked with the Federation of Women's Clubs and the other organizations that were interested in having the bill passed in 1951, as we all felt that this type of protection for the public was long overdue."

Miss Scheuer pointed out that state licensing has long been compulsory for barbers, beauticians, undertakers and others whose work involves sanitary or health measures. Prior to the current law, however, there was no legal restriction on the practice of nursing, only on the use of the letter "R. N." after a nurse's name.

"WASHINGTON REPORT"

By FULTON LEWIS, JR.
(Copyright, 1952,
King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22—The Voice of America has joined the Republican party. This unfortunate occurrence is an additional and unnecessary burden for President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

It was on November 7 that the Voice made the switch from the Truman Administration to Eisenhower. In an international broadcast, the Voice described Eisenhower's victory as "sensational" and stated that the incoming President would "eliminate any wasteful and undesirable elements (in the government) including those with Communist leanings."

This change of pace probably startled global listeners of the Voice, if there are any. Prior to November 7 the Voice avoided mentioning scandals and the last thing in the world its State Department masters would have ever admitted is that the administration harbored anyone on the payroll with Communist leanings. It just goes to show how fast a bureaucrat can jump a fence once he is convinced it's good politics to do so.

The Voice of America could be cleaned up and made into a respectable, worth-while organization. In its present form, it ought to be retired, along with its instigator and first director, William Benton, of Connecticut, the unlamented loser of a Senatorial election in his state. Benton got swamped by more than 100,000 votes but like most Fair Dealers in defeat he endeavored himself to the American people with this post-election statement:

"This election shows me that our American people need adult education more than I thought they did."

Not even Truman can top this for arrogance, although the President will probably try before he's through. Benton set the pattern for the Voice of America and it has been in the same rut ever since. It costs us taxpayers approximately $50,000,000 a year to maintain the miserable blathering that clutters up the airways daily. For instance, on November 7, the Voice broadcast: "The international policies of the new Republican administration constitute a powerful continuation of American foreign policy as it has been generally developed since the war."

If the men and women behind the Iron Curtain who love freedom heard this, they must have been unable to conceal their despair.

Since the war we have permitted Russia to gut Europe, take over China and entangle us in a war in Korea. At the current rate, if the Republicans continue this administration's foreign policy, the Russians will be in Seattle, Wash., by Christmas.

What the Voice of America should be telling our Allies behind the Iron Curtain who are still able to listen is that the new administration ought to dump 90 per cent of the bubbleheads in the State Department and employ a few non-Communist Americans who aren't scared of the Russians.

It won't do much good just to dump Secretary of State Dean Acheson. The foreign service corps ought to be gone through with a fine tooth comb, weeding out everyone who has ever played footsie with the Reds. Many of them have been double-dealing with the Russians for twenty years and unless they are lopped off, a new Secretary of State won't have any more of a chance to break even with the Russians than the late President Roosevelt did with Alger Hiss at his elbow at Yalta.

Mr. Truman and Acheson, of course, can't wait to get their hands on Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Gen. Eisenhower's State and Defense department liaison with the administration. They have a nicely labeled zimmer to cram into Lodge's head. It's called "building peace through strength," a slogan adopted from the Soviet government.

After spending $75,000,000 up to the eve of Korea, the Defense Department had a hard time rustling up a platoon of tanks for the war there. In Berlin, on the firing line with the Russians, we have 5,000 under-trained and under-armed soldiers, very few of whom have had any combat training. The North Atlantic Treaty Organization is falling apart at the seams, and the State Department is hamstringing Japan and dragging its feet in promoting a Pacific Military Pact.

We had the strength once, and probably there would be peace today if we had maintained it. But Truman, Acheson and Company frittered it away. They dumped tanks in the ocean, crushed bombers and fighters with bulldozers and denied arms and ammunition to our only ally in the Pacific worth having, Chiang Kai-Shek.

That is the backbone of their "Peace Through Strength." If Lodge buys it, he will be a bigger menace to our security than Truman and Acheson combined.

Mrs. Cope, a trained nurse, immediately bent down over her child and putting her lips to the child's mouth, breathed in and out.

Every breath she blew into the child's lungs kept Sharlene alive a few seconds longer.

Police Chief Edward Wunsch of Lower Southampton Police, near the scene at the time was called and he provided an escort as Sharlene's father rushed her to Nazareth Hospital.

Sharlene was treated at the hospital, and then was transferred to Children's Hospital, Phila., by Trevoze Heights Rescue Squad.

Cairo, Ankara Were Homes Of Peartree Lane Family

Walter Grant Assigned To Embassy, Military Aide; Wife Is Egyptian

By Staff Reporter

LEVITTOWN, Nov. 22 — Two Near East capitals of world intrigue, Cairo, Egypt and Ankara, Turkey, are former home sites of Walter Grant and his wife, Lucette, who now live at 12 Peartree lane.

Mr. Grant is an aviation radio-man first class in the Navy, now assigned to Johnsville Naval Air Development Station. He went to the Orient on two previous tours of duty with the Navy.

Mrs. Grant, the former Lucette Moche, is an Egyptian, of French and Spanish descent. He met her in 1947, while assigned to the Naval Attache of the American Embassy in Cairo. Their elder son, Stephen, 3½, was born in Rhode Island after Mr. Grant brought his wife to America. Bruce Grant, 2½, was born in Ankara, when the father was on the staff of the administrator of Joint American Military Aid to Turkey.

Mr. Grant's Navy duties in Cairo took him to Farouk Airport, where Lucette was a secretary for Trans World Airlines. They were married in Cairo, and came West to Quonset Point Rhode Island, where he was assigned for two years.

In 1950 the family went to Turkey, for his assignment there. Returning in June of this year, they lived in North Phila. until their Levittown home was ready Oct. 10. They are still awaiting shipment of their furniture from Turkey.

Mr. Grant was captain of a Navy baseball team in Ankara that played against other American service units. Bruce, born in Ankara, is a citizen of both Turkey and the United States. The Grants will be parents of a third child in February.

Mrs. Grant recently obtained American citizenship. Her parents,

Emile and Fortunee Moche, came to New York City from Egypt six months ago and are applying to be American citizens. A sister, in Egypt, plans to migrate to America soon.

Monsieur Moche was chief accountant for a British Commercial firm in Cairo. He is a native of Paris and his wife is Spanish. Mrs. Grant speaks French, Arabic, and Turkish, as well as having a mastery of English.

She studied at Franciscan convent school in Cairo, and later taught herself typing and shorthand. Before her job there with T. W. A. she was a secretary for the British Royal Air Force for two years.

Mrs. Grant is fond of dancing, but she prefers U. S. and Latin American steps to Oriental dances.

A Series of Articles Introducing the New Residents of Levittown to The Community.

By Staff Reporter

LEVITTOWN, Nov. 22 — Among the Philadelphians now living in Levittown are Jack Tolchinsky, his wife, Sylvia, and their four-year-old son, Michael, of 6 Primrose lane. They came here from South Phila. Oct. 10.

Mr. Tolchinsky works for Edward Freeman Co., Phila., as a luggage operator. He attended Frankford High School and his wife studied at South Phila. High School for Girls.

During World War II, Mr. Tolchinsky was a Navy storekeeper, in the Pacific theater. He served aboard the aircraft carrier, U. S. S. Bataan, and flew as an aerial gunner.

Mrs. Tolchinsky was formerly a typist at Phila. Navy Yard and a billing clerk for Crane Co., Phila.

LEVITTOWN, Nov. 22 — North Phila. was the previous home of Frank M. Abel, of 2 Primrose lane, and his wife, Rose, Mr. Abel, a native Philadelphian, is a graduate of Mastbaum Vocational High School. His wife was born in Morton. They have been here since Oct. 11.

The Abels have two children, Robert, three and Sherri-Lynn, 1½ years old.

Mr. Abel was in the Navy from 1942 to 1948, as machinist mate. He served aboard the U. S. S. Funston, a troop transport ship, and had duty in the European and Asiatic theaters.

He is an oil burner parts salesman for Sid Harvey of Penna., Inc., Phila. Mrs. Abel was formerly a clerk-typist at the Pennsylvania Railroad's Phila. office.

LEVITTOWN, Nov. 22 — On those rare occasions when her three tiny tots aren't demanding her full attention, Mrs. John J. (Marion) McCullough writes advertising copy for the department stores. Her daughters, Denis, 4½, and Marion, 2½, and 2½-month-old John F. McCullough have sidetracked their mother's advertising activity, but she still free lances now and then.

The McCulloughs live at 10 Primrose lane.

Mrs. McCullough is former advertising copy chief for Russeks, New York women's wear store. She has written fashion copy for Gimbels in New York and Phila., and in the latter city also was a fashion copywriter for the Blum Store. She is former editor of Gimbels' house organ.

Born in Pittsburgh, Mrs. McCullough entered the advertising field by opening her own agency in Reading.

Mr. McCullough is a stock buyer for Wellington Fund, Inc., assigned to its Camden, N. J. office. A veteran of World War II, he was wounded in action with the Third Army in Europe. He is a graduate of Girard College.

The McCulloughs lived in North-birth for the past 12 years. Moving from that community Aug. 14, they lived in Beach Haven, N. J., until their Levittown house was ready for them Oct. 13. The family has also lived in New York, N. Y., which is the birthplace of all three children.

Mrs. McCullough's father, the late Frederic H. Miller, resided in Bristol at the Delaware House during World War II, when he was employed by Fleetwings. A patent attorney and inventor, Mr. Miller died in 1949.

LEVITTOWN, Nov. 22 — Mr. and Mrs. Peter B. (and Ann) McGovern still have a tie to their former home in Lawndale section of Phila., although they have lived at 20 Primrose lane since Oct. 12, with their daughter, Ann.

They are still members of the Greater Crescentville Civic Association.

tion, of their old neighborhood. Mrs. McGovern is former treasurer of the group. The Civic Association helps needy families of the neighborhood, sends packages to servicemen and entertains patients in military hospitals.

Athletics is another big interest of Mr. McGovern. As soon as some sports activity is organized in Levittown, he'll probably join in it. He bowls for Kaiser Metal Products Corp., for whom he is a leftsman. In Lawndale he played football with the Stenton Rams in the Pop Warner Conference and was active on neighborhood baseball and basketball teams.

While serving in the Army Air Corps during World War II he boxed in his spare time.

Mr. McGovern started work with Kaiser Metals last year after 9½ years as a mechanic at Phila. Navy Yard.

ing residential and industrial area between Trenton and Philadelphia. In Two Lines

The buildings will be arranged in two parallel lines, with a large parking mall between them and additional parking spaces around the perimeter of the project. Combined parking area will contain more than 1,278,000 square feet, or approximately 29 acres, with accommodations for more than 4,500 cars.

Twelve entry points and three roads through the project connecting the two bordering highways will facilitate automobile movement in and out of the Center with a minimum of congestion.

Overpasses for pedestrians and underpasses for truck delivery to the stores will completely separate shopper movement from vehicular traffic, enabling persons to walk to all stores without at any time crossing roadways or parking areas.

The average car will be no more than 200 feet from the nearest sidewalk and the furthest car no more than 300 feet distant.

Illumination for night parking, as well as screen planting to shield adjoining homes from the Center's activity, will also be provided.

For the further convenience of shoppers, all sidewalk areas in front of the stores will have canopies to furnish protection in all weather. In addition, there will be two rest areas where shoppers may relax and children play.

Included in the nine buildings will be three general retail units, measuring 450 x 150, 225 x 150 and 350 x 120 feet, respectively, two supermarket structures, measuring 175 x 100 feet each, a service store building, measuring 275 x 75 feet, a professional building, a restaurant and a department store.

Two automobile service stations and room for a future theater will also be provided.

All of the buildings will be one-story in height, except for the professional building, which will be 2½-stories because of a sloping grade, and the department store, which will be a two-story and basement structure. Each of the nine units will conform to the area's general architectural style, with fieldstone treatment predominating.

The first major units in the Center are scheduled to be opened early in the Fall of 1954 to coincide with the approximate completion date of the bulk of the new housing construction directly to the south and the beginning of the full working schedule of the nearby U. S. Steel and other new industrial plants now under development.

According to Nelson E. Finch, president of Harry Thoenes, Inc., the site for the new Center was chosen for its strategic location along two major highways and its easy accessibility to other sections of Bucks County, Trenton and North Philadelphia.

Negotiations with a nationally known department store and several major retail chains are already in various stages of advancement, Mr. Finch revealed.

Harry Thoenes, Inc., is the renting director of the recently completed, 45-acre Levittown Shopping Center on Long Island.

Variety of Needlework

a number from her collection, and through natural color slides.

Early cross-stitch samplers, faded, yet with the dainty stitches of the letters of the alphabet still visible, were shown. Pieces of needlepoint (both petit-point and gros-point) were included. One of these was the head of a woman, the face in petit-point, the remainder of the figure beaded. Background was in gros-point.

Copied from Earlier Pieces

Referring to the early English embroidery—tapestries, bed coverings, murals and the like—Mrs. Harbeson informed that "chintz is, in reality, copied from those early pieces". She projected pictures of bouquets of mixed flowers to point out the "models" for floral needlework.

Author of a book on needlework, Mrs. Harbeson showed some of her original designs for needlecraft, as well as the completed copies.

That Germany was the first country to make cross-stitch samplers was mentioned, those of the 17th century being very narrow due to smallness of looms. Examples of crewel embroidery, designated by the speaker as a "free-wheeling" or "poetic" method of needlework, were exhibited; needlepoint pocketbooks of the 18th century, carried by men of that era; works of art on wool, silk velvet, etc.

"Needlework made colorful spots of wall decoration in days when there were few paintings" explained the Bucks countian. "These early items were the 'conversation pieces' of their day." That needles were scarce and loaned among families was one point brought out. "They were really valuable items" she added.

The slides showed puff-wool embroidery; how home-makers in the early days in America purchased wool and dyes from peddlars who made their rounds with wagons; "fancy chairs" of country type with their stenciled designs in gold; face-screens, placed on tables to protect from the heat of fire-places.

Mrs. Elwood P. Goslin, county chairman of Americanism and public affairs, told members of plans of officials of Bucks County Federation of Women's Clubs for a loan exhibit of articles of historic interest, starting in April at the Thompson-Neely house, Washington Crossing state park. "Let's unlock the doors of the Thompson-Neely house" she pleaded, as she asked cooperation of club women in lending items of historic interest and appeal for the temporary display.

The clubs in the county are also being asked to budget for permanent gifts of early American furnishings for that shrine.

Mrs. John B. Spencer, Jr., expressed appreciation on behalf of the juniors for a delightful evening. Refreshments followed the program. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. C. Willard Berglund and Mrs. Lester P. Michael.

Huge Shopping Center

ing residential and industrial area between Trenton and Philadelphia.

In Two Lines
The buildings will be arranged in two parallel lines, with a large parking mall between them and additional parking spaces around the perimeter of the project.

Combined parking area will contain more than 1,275,000 square feet, or approximately 29 acres, with accommodations for more than 1,500 cars.

Twelve entry points and three roads through the project connecting the two bordering highways will facilitate automobile movement in and out of the Center with a minimum of congestion.

Overpasses for pedestrians and underpasses for truck delivery to the stores will completely separate shopper movement from vehicular traffic, enabling persons to walk to all stores without at any time crossing roadways or parking areas.

The average car will be no more than 200 feet from the nearest sidewalk and the furthest car no more than 300 feet distant.

Illumination for night parking, as well as screen planting to shield adjoining homes from the Center's activity, will also be provided.

For the further convenience of shoppers, all sidewalk areas in front of the stores will have canopies to furnish protection in all weather. In addition, there will be two rest areas where shoppers may relax and children play.

Included in the nine buildings will be three general retail units, measuring 450 x 150, 225 x 150 and 350 x 120 feet, respectively, two supermarket structures, measuring 175 x 100 feet each, a service store building, measuring 275 x 75 feet, a professional building, a restaurant and a department store.

Two automobile service stations and room for a future theater will also be provided.

All of the buildings will be one-story in height, except for the professional building, which will be 2½-stories because of a sloping grade, and the department store, which will be a two-story and basement structure. Each of the nine units will conform to the area's general architectural style, with fieldstone treatment predominating.

Negotiations with a nationally known department store and several major retail chains are already in various stages of advancement, Mr. Finch revealed.
